Privacy Policy

Quantum Space Corporation · Effective November 20, 2026

1. Who we are

Quantum Space Corporation (“Quantum Space”, “we”, “us”) is a spacecraft company headquartered at 801 Thompson Ave, Rockville, MD 20852. We build Ranger, a maneuverable spacecraft platform for defense, civil and commercial customers. This policy explains what personal information we collect, use, disclose, and otherwise process when you visit quantumspaceinc.com, quantumspace.us, investors.quantumspace.us, or any other Quantum Space website that links to this policy (together, the “Site”), and the choices you have.

This policy covers the Site only. It does not address our privacy practices relating to Quantum Space job applicants, employees and other employment-related individuals, nor information that is not subject to applicable data protection laws (such as de-identified or publicly available information). Job applications are submitted through a careers portal operated by Greenhouse, and the notices presented there apply to them. This policy also does not cover information we handle under our agreements with customers, government agencies, suppliers and other business partners, which is governed by those agreements. This policy is not a contract and does not create any legal rights or obligations not otherwise provided by law.

The Site is a public website. It is not built to receive classified information, controlled unclassified information, export-controlled technical data, or other sensitive material, and we ask that you do not send any through it.

2. Information we collect

The categories of personal information we collect depend on how you interact with us. You may provide personal information to us directly. We also collect personal information automatically when you use the Site, and we may collect personal information from other sources and third parties.

Information you give us: When you fill in the contact form on the Site, we collect what you enter:

- Contact information, including your name and email address. We use this information primarily to respond to your inquiry and communicate with you directly.
- Professional information, including the organization you represent. We use this information primarily to understand your request and route it to the right team.
- The reason you are reaching out, which you select from press and media, investor, general, careers, or partnership. We use this information to route your message.

- Submitted content, including the content of any message you send us. We use this information primarily to fulfill your request and respond to your inquiry.

Providing this information is voluntary, but we may not be able to respond to a request without it. If you contact us by phone, mail or another channel, we collect the information you choose to give us. We may provide additional privacy disclosures where a request, or the personal information it requires, falls outside the scope of this policy. In that case, the additional disclosures govern how we process the information you provide at that time.

Information collected automatically: When you visit the Site, we and our third-party partners automatically collect information about how you access and use it. We typically collect this information through automatic data collection technologies, including (i) cookies, which are small data files stored on your device, and (ii) related technologies such as tags, pixels and local storage. Information we collect automatically may be combined with other personal information we collect directly from you or receive from other sources.

We, and our third-party partners, use these technologies to automatically collect the following information:

- Information about your device and network, including IP address, browser type and version, device type, operating system, internet service provider, approximate location derived from IP address, and unique identifiers associated with you, your device, or your network.
- Information about the way you use the Site, including the pages you view, the links you click, the time and duration of your visit, whether you submitted a form, and the website or advertisement that referred you. This is collected through server logs and cookies, described in section 4 below and in our Cookie Policy.

Information from other sources: We may receive the same categories of personal information described above from the following sources and other parties.

- Social media: If you contact us through a third-party service such as LinkedIn, we receive the information that service passes to us. What we receive depends on your privacy settings with that service. You should review and, if necessary, adjust your privacy settings on third-party websites and social media services before sharing information or connecting them to other services.
- Service providers: We may receive personal information from service providers that perform services on our behalf, including our analytics, advertising and communications providers.
- Other sources: We may also receive personal information about you from other sources, including publicly available sources, event and webinar platforms you register with to attend our events, and transactions such as mergers, acquisitions and business combinations.

3. How we use information

In addition to the primary purposes described above, we may use the personal information we collect to:

- Respond to your inquiries and requests, including media, investor, partnership and general inquiries;
- Facilitate the relationship we have with you and the organization you represent;
- Send you information you have asked for, such as company updates and event details;
- Operate, secure, and improve the Site, including understanding which pages are visited and how visitors reach them;
- Measure the performance of our communications and advertising, and show our advertising to people who have visited the Site;
- Help maintain and enhance the safety, security, and integrity of our property, products, services, technology, assets, and business;
- Manage our organization and its day-to-day operations;
- Create aggregated or de-identified information that cannot reasonably be used to identify you, which we may use for purposes outside the scope of this policy;
- Comply with legal obligations and protect our rights and the rights of others, including defending, protecting, or enforcing our rights or applicable contracts and agreements, resolving disputes, and protecting our business interests and the interests and rights of third parties;
- Detect, prevent, investigate, or provide notice of security incidents or other malicious, deceptive, fraudulent, or illegal activity, and protect the rights and property of Quantum Space and others;
- Facilitate business transactions and reorganizations affecting the structure of our business;
- Fulfill any other purpose for which you provide your personal information, or for which you have otherwise consented.

We do not use personal information collected through the Site for automated decision-making that has a legal or similarly significant effect on you.

4. Cookies, analytics and advertising

Cookies are small text files placed on your device by a website. The Site uses:

- Essential cookies, set by our hosting platform, which are needed to deliver the Site and keep it secure.
- Analytics cookies, set by Google Analytics, which help us understand how visitors find and use the Site. For information on how Google collects and processes data, and how you can control information sent to Google, see Google's explanation of how it uses information from sites that use its services.
- Advertising cookies, set by Google Ads, which let us measure whether our advertising leads to visits and inquiries and show our advertising on other websites to people who have visited the Site.

Our Cookie Policy lists each cookie, what it does and how long it lasts, and explains how to turn cookies off. You can control cookies through your browser settings, including blocking them or deleting those already set. Blocking essential cookies may affect how the Site works.

We do not sell personal information for money. Our use of Google's advertising cookies involves making identifiers and browsing activity available to Google so that it can deliver advertising on our behalf, which some U.S. state privacy laws treat as "sharing" personal information or as targeted advertising. You can opt out at any time using the controls described in section 7 and in our Cookie Policy.

5. Who we share information with

We disclose, share, or otherwise make available personal information in the following ways:

- Service providers: We engage third parties to perform services on our behalf in connection with the uses described above, including website hosting (Webflow), analytics and advertising (Google), and the agency that builds and maintains the Site. These service providers may process personal information on our behalf or have access to it while performing their services.
- Affiliates: We may disclose personal information to our parent companies, subsidiaries and other affiliated entities for purposes consistent with this policy.
- Advisors and communications partners: We may share inquiries with the professional advisors and communications firms that support us, for example a media relations firm that responds to press inquiries on our behalf, so that they can respond to you.
- Legal and safety: We may disclose personal information to third parties, such as legal advisors, regulators and law enforcement, where required by law, regulation, legal process or a government request, or where we believe disclosure is necessary to protect the rights, property or safety of Quantum Space, our customers or the public.
- Business transfers: We may take part in, or be involved with, a business transaction, such as a merger, acquisition, business combination, joint venture, financing or sale of company assets. We may disclose, transfer, or assign personal information to a third party during negotiation of, in connection with, or as an asset in such a transaction or reorganization. In the unlikely event of our bankruptcy, receivership, or insolvency, your personal information may be disclosed, transferred, or assigned to third parties in connection with the proceedings or disposition of our assets.
- Consent: We may disclose your personal information to other third parties or publicly with your consent or at your direction.

6. How long we keep information

We retain the personal information we collect for no longer than reasonably necessary to fulfill the purposes for which it was collected, and in accordance with our legitimate business interests and applicable law. If necessary, we may retain personal information for longer periods as required under applicable law or as needed to resolve disputes or protect our legal rights.

To determine the appropriate retention period, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal information, the potential risk of harm from unauthorized use or disclosure, whether we can achieve our objectives by other means, and our legal, regulatory, tax, accounting, and other applicable obligations.

Once retention is no longer reasonably necessary, we will either delete or de-identify the personal information or, if that is not possible (for example, because it has been stored in backup archives), we will securely store it and isolate it from further active processing until deletion or de-identification is possible.

7. Your choices and rights

Privacy rights requests: Depending on where you live, you may have certain rights regarding your personal information, including the right to know what we hold, to access it and receive a portable copy, to correct it, to delete it, and to opt out of targeted advertising or the sale or sharing of personal information. To make a request, use the contact form at quantumspaceinc.com/contact and select “General”, or write to us at the address in section 13. We will not discriminate against you for exercising these rights. We may need to verify your identity before acting on a request, and you may appeal a decision by replying to our response.

Advertising and analytics choices: You can opt out of Google’s personalized advertising at Google My Ad Center, opt out of interest-based advertising from participating companies at optout.aboutads.info, and stop Google Analytics from measuring your visits with the Google Analytics opt-out browser add-on. You can also block or delete cookies in your browser settings. The Site does not currently change its behavior in response to browser “Do Not Track” signals.

Marketing emails: If we send you email updates, you can unsubscribe at any time using the link in the email or by contacting us.

Visitors from international jurisdictions: The Site is hosted in the United States and intended for visitors in the United States. If you are located in the European Union or another jurisdiction with laws governing data collection that differ from U.S. law, you are transferring your personal information outside your jurisdiction to the United States for processing. By providing any information, including personal information, you consent to the transfer, storage, and processing of that information in the United States.

California's "Shine the Light" law: California Civil Code § 1798.83 gives California residents who have an established business relationship with us certain rights regarding the disclosure of personal information to third parties for their own direct marketing purposes. We do not disclose personal information to third parties for their own direct marketing purposes.

8. Security

We use reasonable organizational, technical and physical safeguards designed to protect your personal information. Despite these controls, we cannot completely guarantee or warrant the security of your personal information. Email and web forms are not secure channels for sensitive material, so please do not use them to send it.

9. Children

The Site is intended for a professional audience and is not directed at children under 13. We do not knowingly collect or solicit personal information from children under the age of 13. If a child under 13 has provided personal information to us, we encourage the child's parent or guardian to contact us so that we can remove it from our systems. If we learn that any personal information we hold was provided by a child under 13, we will promptly delete it.

10. De-identified information

We may at times process personal information to create de-identified information that can no longer reasonably be used to infer information about, or otherwise be linked to, a particular individual or household. Where we maintain de-identified information, we will maintain and use it in de-identified form and will not attempt to re-identify it except as required or permitted by law.

11. Links to other websites

The Site includes links to third-party websites and services, including our careers portal hosted by Greenhouse, webinar and event platforms, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, news publishers, and social media services. We are not responsible for their privacy practices, and this policy does not apply to them. To learn how those third parties handle personal information, please read their privacy policies.

12. Changes to this policy

We may update this policy from time to time. When we do, we will change the effective date at the top of this page, and where a change is significant we will give more prominent notice on the Site. All changes are effective as of the effective date above unless otherwise provided.

13. Contact us

If you have questions or requests in connection with this policy or your personal information, use the contact form at quantumspaceinc.com/contact or reach us at:

Quantum Space Corporation
Attn: Privacy
801 Thompson Ave
Rockville, MD 20852
240.956.4580