Since 2016, Axalta has collaborated with Thermos on its

R&D and product innovation to develop customized powder coating solutions that will replace solventborne coatings and help the company to achieve its sustainability goals.

"We're excited to be a strategic partner to Thermos so that we can continue to not only bring beautiful, rich colors to their products, but also help reduce energy consumption and protect the environment," said Gary Cao, General Manager of Axalta-Huajia Coatings. "We are also excited that we have been able to bring Axalta's cutting-edge technologies, sustainable solutions and professional experience to Thermos' R&D and innovation to provide value-added service for our customer."

Alesta powder coatings have superior durability and are available in a wide selection of colors, effects, and gloss levels. In addition to the sustainable nature of powder products which contain no VOC and targeted HAP emissions, the coating can be used in versatile applications from tableware, to doors, window frames, cladding and other architectural components.
