Eldorado Gold Enters Constructive Dialogue with Greek Government

TSX: ELD NYSE: EGO

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21, 2017 /CNW/ - Eldorado Gold Corporation ("Eldorado", "the Company" or "we") today announced that it has entered into constructive dialogue with Greece's Ministry of Energy and Environment ("MoE") in respect to the development of the Company's subsidiary, Hellas Gold S.A.'s, Cassandra Mine assets in Halkidiki, Northern Greece. The Cassandra assets, which include the Skouries and Olympias projects and the Stratonis mine, were permitted under one single Environment Impact Study ("EIS") approved in 2011 by the Greek State.

George Burns, President and Chief Executive Officer of Eldorado, commented: "We are very pleased with the constructive dialogue that is underway with the Ministry of Energy and Environment. Furthermore, last week the Ministry issued a number of long overdue routine permits for our Olympias project. As a result of these developments we have decided to temporarily postpone our decision to place our assets in Halkidiki on care and maintenance."

Mr. Burns concluded: "We preserve the right to place our assets on care and maintenance and to take prompt legal action to protect the Company and its assets in Greece should our dialogue with the Ministry of Energy and Environment prove unsuccessful. At the same time, we remain confident that the arbitration process initiated last week by the Greek government will be concluded in a timely and efficient manner, for the benefit of all stakeholders."
