Public Storage Opens New Huntersville Storage Facility

HUNTERSVILLE, North Carolina—Public Storage (NYSE:PSA) opened a brand new three-story self-storage facility this week in the heart of one of Charlotte’s fastest-growing suburbs to help residents—both new and longtime—find more room close to home. The construction project is part of the company’s ongoing effort to expand in North Carolina.

The Public Storage at 10219 Bryton Corporate Center Dr. Huntersville, NC 28078 opened with nearly 900 available spaces conveniently near the brand new Walmart Supercenter, Lake Norman and the Northlake Mall.

The self-storage units will serve locals in the rapidly growing area who are moving to Huntersville and other Charlotte suburbs with the lengthening of the I-485 beltway that will make commuting easier. It also helps that homes here are affordable, and that the town is close enough to jobs in the city for an easy commute.

Visitors will find plenty of free parking and shiny, new storage units that come in an array of sizes, from small to extra large. An energy-efficient, climate-control system helps take the edge off of summer and winter weather extremes.

Company Information

We help customers in their time of need, whether moving, downsizing or storing for business. Public Storage was founded in 1972 with a single Southern California self-storage building. We’ve grown a bit since then, to more than 2,386 locations around the country, making us the largest in the business today and a member of the S&P 500. We offer self-storage options of all shapes and sizes and the same personal attention from on-site managers that we’ve been giving from day one. For stockholders, we are a real estate investment trust, meaning we distribute a large portion of revenue to public investors in the form of dividends.
