

Navistar Financial Corporation Enters into $300 Million Conduit Facility

WARRENVILLE, Ill., Jul 29, 2008 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Navistar Financial Corporation (NFC), an affiliate of Navistar International Corporation (NYSE: NAV) entered into a $300 million conduit facility backed by retail notes. This agreement brings the total of asset-backed notes sold by NFC since November 2007 to more than $1 billion.

"The liquidity necessary to execute our growth strategies and capitalize on market opportunities is directly linked to our continued access to bank conduits," said Terry Endsley, executive vice president and chief financial officer, Navistar International Corporation. "The credit quality of our retail receivables portfolio, coupled with the support of our key relationship banks, has positioned NFC for continued access to the conduit market, even during difficult market conditions."

The company uses conduit sales such as this transaction to enhance liquidity and to provide continued financing support to its customers.
