

Brink's and Navistar International Corporation Celebrate 100 Years of Business Together

Companies Meet in Chicago to Commemorate Historic Partnership and Announce New Hybrid Armored Truck

CHICAGO--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Brink's and Navistar, Inc., announced the 100th anniversary of their business partnership. Both industry-leaders in their markets, the two companies hosted a celebratory event last week at the Brink's Museum in Chicago to honor their working relationship and longevity.

Brink's and Navistar credit this successful partnership to a foundation of trust and innovation. The companies have worked side-by-side to develop the state-of-the-art International® DuraStar® hybrid armored truck, designed specifically to reduce emissions and improve fuel efficiency in an ongoing commitment to the green initiative.

"This momentous event is as much about history as it is about the companies. It reflects the entrepreneurial spirit of drive and determination," said President of Brink's U.S. and Executive Vice President North America, Lawrence (Larry) F. Rodo. "At the end of the day, our companies possess specialized expertise that can easily be leveraged into value. In turn, we deliver that value to our people and to our customers. A true testament is the introduction of the hybrid truck."

With Navistar's diesel fuel hybrid technology, Brink's can achieve its green initiative goals by improving uptime, reducing operational costs and providing a cleaner environment.

Features of the International DuraStar hybrid truck include: 65% reduction in hydrocarbon emissions, 58% reduction in carbon monoxide and 41% reduction in nitrogen oxide emissions; up to 60% improvement in fuel economy compared to traditional diesel engines; and, reduced noise pollution with an optional electronic power take-off, which keeps the engine off during stationary work.

"Our strategic partnership makes both companies stronger in the long-run," said Rodo. "When you compare Brink's and Navistar, our core values are virtually identical. Terms like integrity, professionalism and innovative thinking are the very backbone of our organizations. Ultimately, we work together to ensure our customers receive integrated, best-in-class transportation and secure solutions."

The first Brink's hybrid truck will be released in Los Angeles, CA, and then will be distributed throughout the United States.

"Our partnership with Brink's has remained a success because we share the same vision," adds Dan Ustian, President, Chairman and Chief Executive Office, Navistar. "We capitalize on the strengths of each other, and leverage our complementary skill set to add value and to achieve synergy. More than 100 years ago, the right foundation was laid. Today as we celebrate our meaningful partnership, and in the years to come, we will focus on the most valuable initiatives that support our customers, our people and our companies."
